

A Regular Crawfish.

The Tribune has the following:
THE RECOUNT. The counting of the ballots in the Leach-Murphy contest or rather the manner in which they were held will settle the Bray-Schneider case. According to good authority the ball should have been turned over to the clerk of the Court as soon as canvassed by the Commissioners. This was not done and a recount would be illegal, the supposition, according to law, being that ballots when held in custody by other than the proper person are tampered with.

This is the biggest crawfish proposition we have yet seen in the recount business. The Republicans, while shouting that the recount would only show that Bray had a bigger majority than the official count showed, have twisted and turned in every direction to avoid the proof—the only proof. The plea made by the Tribune in the last gasp, and a public admission that they know the count is wrong. They are paving the way to cry fraud when the recount defeats them.

The article in last night's Tribune caused scores of honest Republicans, who had been defending the count to now, admit that the whole thing had a decidedly crooked look.

Hill and Allen.

A Silver State correspondent thus gossips of Hill and Allen.

My old friend, Johnny Hill, who says he is not a Democrat, came in yesterday in company with L. F. Dunn, Clerk of your county, who had in charge a large dry goods box filled with ballots. Why Mr. Dunn could be so negligent as to allow a man who had once been a Democrat to travel so near so important a ballot box as the one in question is a great mystery to all who have been familiar with the acts and character of old line Democrats. Perhaps since Johnny has allied himself with a new party he has repented and been of late on his good behavior and forgotten the old tricks when working in Democratic harness.

There are many jolly fellows in the legislative hall this winter, and none more jolly than the Speaker of the House—your old legislative chum, Lem Allen. Lem has put aside the stovepipe hat that adorned his broad gauge intellectuality in the early days of the session and donned a neat white felt hat. You will remember Lem was always a little stubborn and not exactly pleased with all things. "Hug me slyly, but don't tell," does not give full satisfaction to Lem, as is evidenced by his lonely vote on the passage of Senate bill No. 1. He is extremely fond, he says, of obeying the request, but seriously objects to the injunction, as it deprives him of imparting pleasant information to a close friend, who he knows is as fond of obeying the request as he is.

It is the Redland's Citograph, edited by Seido Craiz, one of the defeated candidates for State Printer before the last Republican State Convention of that gives forth what follows.

The Sacramento Bee editor, V. S. McClatchy, on the witness stand testified that every editor on the coast gets an annual pass from the Southern Pacific Company. Mr. McClatchy is conversing through his sombrero. We know plenty of newspaper men who have no annual from the company, but every one ought to have. The more the country newspaper man travels over the State the better immigration agent he is. The more production, the more freight. See?

Some of the economists are opposing the bill to have a State Veterinary Surgeon, ready at all times to diagnose cattle diseases and prevent them becoming epidemic. It is urged that there are no cattle diseases. On the same principle it may be urged that it is not good to insure against fire, on the grounds that your house never burned. A cattle epidemic might start here and cost the State a million dollars. The salary of the officer is not to exceed twelve hundred per annum, and it is poor economy to kill so useful a bill.

The Administrations financial scheme was defeated in the House yesterday by a vote of 733 to 159. This is a great blow to the pie counter.

A resolution has been introduced in the Senate calling for a committee from the House and Senate to arrange the Governors Inaugural.

The Governor has appointed Dr. W. J. Phillips of Reno, as a member of the State Board of Health.

There is a deficit of a million and a half in the California State Treasury.

It is said a bill is to be introduced in the Legislature by the Grocers Protective Union prohibiting selling groceries at less than cost. It is aimed at Leslie Bell. Bell claims that such a bill would be unconstitutional.

Job Keating was in the city yesterday.

Colonel and Mrs. Hardesty of Wells are in town.

The "Two Of A Kind" will pack the Opera House next Saturday evening. Truly Shattuck who drew such a large house here before is with the company again. The piece has never been played here.
